Dear Secretariat of German Division of the International Academy of Pathology and the Vladimir Totović Foundation,

My name is Anastasiia Denysenko, and I am a young pathologist, PhD, and Assistant Professor at the Department of Pathology of Sumy State University in Ukraine. Recently, I had the honour to participate in the 15th International Junior Academy (July 3-5, 2025, Bordeaux, France) as part of support from the German Division of the International Academy of Pathology and the Vladimir Totović – Foundation grant (Project Number: T0476/46573/2025/hhe).

Firstly, I would like to thank you for the opportunity to study with the best pathologists in Europe in their field (gynaecology, gastrointestinal pathology, breast pathology, lung pathology, uropathology and digital pathology). The lectures were fascinating and informative, and the discussions outside the lectures were inspiring. In Ukraine, we officially do not have narrow specialities in pathology. Still, after such lectures, you understand that pathology is so vast and diverse that it becomes evident that you need to move from general pathology to a narrower one in your practice to achieve success.

Secondly, thank you for the opportunity to present my clinical case; it was a great opportunity to practice my speaking skills and exchange experiences with other young specialists, and as it turned out, the problems of young pathologists are very similar regardless of the country of residence.

Thirdly, I want to thank you for the rich social program: the city tour and the winery tour provided an opportunity to get closer to the local culture and brought the event participants closer together.

So, thank you for your support on my application for the German Division of the International Academy of Pathology and the Vladimir Totović – Foundation grant for participation in the 15th International Junior Academy in Bordeaux (<https://pathology.med.sumdu.edu.ua/en/15th-international-junior-academy/>).

Best regards,

Anastasiia Denysenko
